

Single Player Mode

The water level is rising, Noah must save as many species as possible and only you can help him. Do your best and maybe he will let you have a place on the Ark.

Setup

- 1 Choose the animals according to the difficulty desired.
  - Beginner : remove all animals marked 4+ and 5+.
  - Advanced : remove all animals marked 5+.
  - Expert : play with all animals.
- 2 Carefully shuffle the selected animals and make a draw pile. Any removed animals are replaced in the box.

- 3 Place the board in the center of the table.
- 4 Place 5 ferries around the board and place the Noah token on one of them. The remaining 3 ferries are placed in the center of the board.
- 5 Draw the first two animals from the deck.

Game Turn

The player performs the following actions in order :

- play a card from their hand, following the two golden rules of the basic game (gender and weight), and apply the effect of the card if it has one ;
- move Noah according to the indications on the card played ;
- draw a card.

Forming a couple

If you manage to load a male and a female of the same species consecutively on the same ferry, you draw two cards at the end of the turn instead of one.

Filling a ferry

If you load an animal and the total sum is exactly 21 (or 13, if there is a woodpecker in the ferry), the ferry immediately sets sail to the Great Ark (the cards are set aside), and it is replaced by a ferry from the center of the board. If there are no more ferries in the center, it is not replaced, and the player cannot use that loading zone when moving Noah.

The first time you move a ferry, discard the first card from the deck, the second time, discard the first two cards, and so on.

Animal effects

Playing a giraffe

The giraffe has adapted to the game mode, thanks to its long neck it is able to see far, which allows you to look at the next 3 cards in the deck and replace each of them either on or under the deck, in the order of your choice.

Playing a lion

The lion is irritated by all the commotion and his influence on the other animals can be useful to you. When you play him, you may choose any animal on a ferry and replace it on top of the deck (note that you may not remove an animal if doing so would violate the golden rule about animal genders).

Playing a woodpecker, a mule, or a snail

They haven't changed a bit ! Apply the same effects as in the basic game.

End of game

The game can end in two ways :

- You cannot play according to the rules (gender, weight or moving Noah). Count the remaining tears in your hand and in the deck to determine just how sad Noah is... You can do better next time !
- The deck is empty and you have no more cards in your hand, all the animals leave for the Great Ark, this is a victory and you have the congratulations of Noah.
